

BIOGRAPHY

If there is such a thing as a common European sound, NABER's music embodies that completely. Influenced by Scandi-disco, French electro and German techno, the Dutchman is quintessentially European yet universally appealing. After living in the vibrant city of Manchester, the discovery of its nightlife had a lasting impact on the young producer.

Although those musical angles are present, NABER's unmistakable knack for melody writing and moody soundscapes allows for a unique vision that fits perfectly in the landscape of electronica.

His calculated yet colourful synth-heavy club tracks are a retro-infused wall of sound with a hint of psychedelica and ambient.

The producer's storytelling also translates well to his exhilarating live shows. By using an extensive collection of vintage machinery on stage, his idiosyncrasies allow for spontaneous improvisations and dramatic climaxes whilst never undermining the club culture he came to adore.

With a handful of releases on the horizon and some grander projects under development, he's ready to give back to the continent what he received. Only one question now remains; is Europe ready for NABER?
